Status to hunger group

THE ROCKY

ASWSU status was recently granted to the Hunger Awareness Committee (HAC). The purpose of the newly formed com-mittee is to ''educate the students'' Bob Loomis, cochairman, said.

The Hunger Task Force, which sponsored the April 3 day of fast, differs from the HAC in that its primary purpose is to raise money to fight world hunger.

The HAC sponsors educational workshops for the college community. An alternative lifestyle workshop titled "Consumption and Fantasy: America you're basically OK but a little inadequate" was presented April 3 at the Koinonia House. Other educational workshops will be held throughout the year.

A questionnaire, developed by Roger Bowden, Hunger Task Force coordinator for the Presbyterian Church Synod (the Pacific Northwest area), was distributed to students attending the workshop. The questionnaire attempted to establish strengths and weaknesses of college students' awareness about hunger.

The questionnaires will be analyzed by Bowden and used when planning educational programs for next year.

Three students speak on policy Only three students testified at the public hearing on proposed changes for university policies and regulations that several student organizations had requested. The review of the regulations had been requested by organizations including the Undergraduate Student Affairs Committee (USAC), the Traffic Control Board, the Activities Board and University Conduct Committee.

ASWSU President Tom Pirie recommended that the university regulation prohibiting discrimination on the basis of race, national origin, creed, age, sex, marital status, and handicaps, be amended to prohibit discrimination on sexual preference or orientation

Pirie said that the regulations should be cleared up to eliminate confusion and possible discrimination against homosexuals.

Neil Rasmussen, a member of the Undergraduate Student Affairs Committee, pointed out in his testimony that USAC voted on the issue of sexual preference and had decided not to include it in the proposed changes.

On another issue, Vice President-elect Larry Clark expressed concern that residence halls should have the opportunity to participate in fund raising drives for projects other than charity.

Currently, the Cougar Club is conducting a joga-thon to help raise money for the Martin Stadium Expansion Project, Clark said, noting that fraternities and sororities are able to raise funds for their own charities.

The change proposed in the regulations would allow student organizations to raise money for the benefit of the organization.

Other proposed regulations concerning parking regulations, dorm visitation rules, academic cheat ing and freshman live-in rules were not dealt with at the hearing.

The regents will consider whether to implement the changes of the policies and regulations at its next meeting in May

Burglars go for tape decks. cassettes in car break-ins

Four cars were burglarized, two yesterday and two Tuesday night, campus police reported.

In each burglary either tape cassettes or car stereo speakers were taken. In three of the cases. access to the car was gained through a window.

A box of cassettes was stolen from a car in the Chinook Village parking lot yesterday. The cassettes were valued at $200. A window was broken on the car. Two car stereo speakers were stolen from another car yesterday. The value of the speakers was $30.

Two car speakers and some cassettes were stolen from a car Tuesday night. The speakers and cassettes were valued at $170. Entry was gained by forcing open a window. Damage to the window was estimated at $50.

Another theft occurred during the Styx concert Tuesday night. Cassettes valued at $100 were stolen, and an attempt to take a tape deck was unsuccessful. The burglar apparently gained access through a window.

Students who plan to attend another institution, including summer school and transfer the credits back to WSU are urged to have equivalent courses approved beforehand, according to Diane Hansel, credentials evaluator.

Get transfer OK

before leaving

Forms that permit a student to take equivalent courses and have them count here may be obtained in French Ad 342. The forms must be signed by the student's department chairman and be approved by the Office of Admissions.

Apply for degree Friday

Friday is the last day to apply for a degree for June, according to Nancy Hirst, graduation supervisor

She said the necessary forms are available in the registrar's office. Completion of these forms will result in a "to-do" list being sent to the student.

She said candidates for June graduation should pay their $5 graduation fee at the cashier's window on the second floor of French Ad. The deadline for paying the fee was March 8, but it will still be accepted.

accepted at the door.

COMING. .

While you were here studying, back in Seattle four new "teen" discos and six over-21 clubs opened, and one place went 17 and over. And the one place built a 1200 square-foot illuminated dance floor: and put in sofas and carpeted walls and a $10,000 light show; and the one disco extended their hours until 4 a.m. Friday and Saturday nights.

One of the discos went bankrupt and three others are ready to close.

TONIGHT'S NIGHT

And one disco is now number one . .

When you come home for vacation or visit the Northwest, dance at a real disco.
